EXPERTS GIVE TESTIMONY IN CIRCUIT COURT

Damage Suit Against Amboy Doctor on Trial Today

Experts in the construction and operation of X-ray machines and treatment of disease by them were brought to Dixon Wednesday afternoon by attorneys in the damage suit brought by Mrs. Hazel Tice of this city against Dr. Charles A. Ziegler of Amboy for $15,000, which she asks for the alleged burning of her left hand by X-ray treatments of eczema. Mrs. Tice was the first witness to take the stand and said she had been forced to abandon her career as a pianist and musician because of the burn which rendered the left hand almost useless. In addition to this she said she had been unable to care for her children and household duties and had given up housekeeping.

Dr. Bert H. Weld, of Rockford, a specialist in X-ray work, took the stand and it was developed in his testimony that the burn should not have resulted, should the usual care and attention have been exercised in the treatment. Dr. Weld based his opinion, he said, on his knowledge, practice and experience in X-ray work, and stated that the treatment in this case was not properly administered. On cross-examination, the Rockford specialist testified that the burn might have resulted from a super-sensitive skin or the passing of an excessive current through the machine at the time the treatment was given.

He also answered questions put by the defense in which he said that the X-ray mechanism and system of treatment was much less accurate in March, 1922, when Mrs. Tice received the treatment for eczema of the hands, than now. Counsel for the plaintiff sought to establish a standard of X-ray equipment about March 1922, in localities of the population of Amboy. In cross-examination, in answer to questions put by Attorney Clyde Smith for the defendant, the Rockford specialist, stated that the Rockford specialist of Commerce claimed a population of 120,000 for that city but that the census showed only 65,000. Dr. Weld was the closing witness for the plaintiff.

Defendant on Stand. Dr. Charles A. Ziegler of Amboy took the stand in his own behalf and told of the treatment for eczema of the hands by X-ray, which was followed through leather for seven applications and on the eighth and final, without the filter.

At the close of the taking of testimony by the plaintiff's attorney, Attorney Clyde Smith presented a motion in which he sought to have the case taken from the jury and a direct verdict handed down by the court. After a hearing, Judge Emerson overruled the motion and the taking of testimony continued.

Following Dr. Ziegler, Dr. I. S. Trostler of Chicago, a specialist in X-ray, testified that six months after the announcement of the discovery of the Roentgen ray he had devised and built an X-ray machine and since 1906 had practiced exclusively in this branch of science. He testified that he was acquainted with the Rockford specialist, the Chicago specialist stating that burn might result at the hands of the most expert operator of the X-ray machine. This morning several local physicians testified concerning the effects of the X-ray treatment and the possibilities of burns.

SOMETHING TO SMEAR WALSH, COAN'S WISH?

Helena Lawyer Quotes Investigators as So Outlining Mission.

Washington, May 8.—Activities of Blair Coan, republican national committee investigator who went to Montana to inquire into records of Senator Walsh of the oil committee and Senator Wheeler of the Daugherty committee, were described today in the senate. Daugherty district attorney, A. A. Grover, Helena attorney, said: "Coan came to me in April and said he wanted something to smear Senator Walsh. He said they had Wheeler where they wanted him, and now they would get something on Walsh. "I told Coan I knew about the Campbell case (on which Senator Wheeler's indictment was based) and that there was nothing they could convict Wheeler about. Coan said that was right, but they would hold the indictment over Wheeler anyhow. Slatery, the United States district attorney, had not wished to bring the case before a grand jury, Coan went on, but the Department of Justice had a charge against Slatery and that made Slatery so through anyway."

EXCLUSION FIGHT BREAKS OUT ANEW IN SENATE TODAY

Conferees Agreement to Delay Application is Signal for Fight.

Washington, May 8.—The senate heatedly debated the immigration bill today with both democratic and republican spokesmen bitterly assailing the conference report postponing Japanese exclusion. Senator Robinson, Arkansas, the democratic leader, opened the attack and he was joined immediately by Senators Borah, Idaho and Johnson, California, republicans. The provision directing negotiation of an understanding cancelling the gentlemen's agreement, adopted at the suggestion of President Coolidge, was assailed as an abrogation of the principle that immigration is a purely domestic question. Result of Compromise Renewal of the exclusion fight was the result of the action of the senate and house immigration bill conferees in re-opening the question at the insistence of President Coolidge and recommending postponement of the effectiveness date of the Asiatic provision until March 1, 1925. The conferees Tuesday agreed upon July 1, 1924 as the effective date for the exclusion provision. The president, who had urged a postponement until March 1, 1926 to give time for his efforts to bring about a greater delay than agreed upon by the conferees revising his suggestion to make the date March 1, 1925. The conferees were reassembled and accepted the new proposal with a clause requesting the President to "negotiate with the Japanese government in relation to the abrogation of the present agreement on this subject." Their decisions, however, were not unanimous.

Commercial Alley is Being Given Cleaning

One branch of the City Beautiful movement in connection with the spring clean-up campaign, which is not generally noticed, but greatly appreciated, is the lot owned by George Downing on Commercial alley between Galena and Ottawa avenue. The work of cleaning up the lot has been under way for two days and several loads of clinders and other rubbish have been removed. Merchants using the alley just east of Galena avenue, have cleaned up the alley and in the future will install receptacles for the storage of rubbish and refuse which will be hauled away. The condition of the north bank of Rock river east of the Galena avenue bridge was called to the attention of the city officials today and Commissioner J. E. Valle stated at noon that one citizen had threatened to take court action to have the undesirable refuse cleared from the bank.

Teapot Dome Oil Not Good for Naval Use

Washington, May 8.—Practical details of oil production on Teapot Dome and Elk Hill were described today for the senate oil committee by H. F. Bain, director of the Bureau of Mines. For the first time the committee began its session with no one present except members, witnesses and newspapermen. Director Bain declared the oil in Teapot Dome is not suitable for naval fuel use, and could not be economically prepared for such use. The natural and right course, under the circumstances, he said, was to exchange the Teapot Dome oil for other oil.

"Write a Letter to Mother" Sunday and Give Her Best Gift

That the custom of wearing a carnation on Mother's Day is not necessarily the correct observance of the day, is advanced by leaders of the movement throughout the country. The most important feature of the day is the remembrance of mother by some token; it may be a visit home or by a letter, and if in an opportune position, some act of kindness or thoughtfulness that will make the day stand out in mother's memory as one of her red letters. The wearing of the carnation honors mother, but it is not enough in itself to carry out the true spirit of the day. A letter from the son or daughter who is away has been suggested as the surest means of winning mother's approval and of pleasing her at this time. Flowers are beautiful and candy, books and pictures, motto cards, etc., desirable without doubt. All of these, however, may be bought and sent to mother with only a passing thought, while a letter is perhaps the most indicative and serious contemplation of the day. Those who are sending gifts may enhance them greatly by accompanying them with a note or letter. The coming Sunday will be observed in some manner in practically all the churches. Sermons will have to do with the topic, "Mother's Day." The entire month of May in the Catholic church is dedicated to the honor of the Blessed Virgin, Mary, the mother of Christ, and the day will be the occasion for veneration in a spiritual way.

EXPECT KLAN TO HOLD SWAY IN CONVENTION

Thought to Have Elected Indiana Majority.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 8.—With the Ku Klux Klan having put over its favorite, Ed Jackson, secretary of state, as the republican nominee for governor, political interest today turned to efforts to determine the organization's strength in the state convention and its probable attitude toward reorganized party control. The exact influence of the Klan in the state convention which meets May 21 and 22 to nominate the state ticket other than governor was not known in the absence of returns from counties showing the delegates elected to the convention at Tuesday's primary, but the consensus of opinion was that the Klan had a majority of the 1,350 delegates. Jackson carried almost every county. As returns from the primary neared completion, force of Klan influence pooled 100,000 plurality over his near-certain establishment somewhat definitely. Jackson, to win the majority vote, set of five opponents. Republican vote was heavier than in the democratic contest which ended with Dr. C. B. McCulloch gaining a big plurality vote, but failed of a majority, with the result that the nomination was thrown into the state convention.

Shoplifters Plead Guilty to Charges in Lee County Court

Mrs. Ionia Harrington and Mrs. Virginia Harrington, both colored, arrested Wednesday for shoplifting following complaints by many of the local merchants and the discovery of a large quantity of women's ready-to-wear apparel in the home of the women, went into the county court Wednesday afternoon to answer to charges of larceny which were contained in an information filed by State's Attorney Mark C. Keller. Both women confessed having taken articles from stores and entered pleas of guilty to the charges contained in the information. Mrs. Ionia Harrington, who is the mother of a small baby, was fined $50 and costs by County Judge John B. Crabtree and placed on parole, her husband paying the amount. Mrs. Virginia Harrington was fined $25 and costs and sent to the county jail to serve 10 days. The articles taken in the raid Tuesday evening were returned to the merchants.

DRY'S LEADER BEFORE HOUSE JUDICIARY BODY

Opposes Modification of Volstead Law at Hearing Today.

Washington, May 8.—Modification of prohibition laws was opposed today by a delegation headed by Wayne R. Wheeler, general counsel of the Anti-Saloon League, which appeared before the house judiciary committee. The committee has under consideration bills which would permit 2.75 percent beer. "Enemies of prohibition use these bills as camouflage in order to make impossible the enforcement of the 18th amendment," Wheeler charged. At the opening of the hearing F. F. Farley, chairman of the National Liberal Alliance, wound up the argument for modification. If allowed to vote on the question, the majority of people, he said, would vote for modification. When Wheeler took the stand, Representative Perlman charged Wheeler had injected a religious issue into a memorandum which he had prepared on a prohibition measure and had later stricken it out. Wheeler was about to submit memorandum on the beer bill when Perlman objected. Perlman quoted what he said was a memorandum on the Cranston bill by Wheeler in which "certain elements were accused of not obeying the prohibition law." "I challenge that statement," Wheeler replied. "Wheeler will say in a statement what he would not dare to say before the committee and submit to cross examination," Perlman interjected. "Someone else struck out the statement," Wheeler put in. "I shall be glad to submit to questioning." Chairman Graham ruled Wheeler could submit the statement to the committee for consideration later.

NOTE HINTED AT DEATH OF AMBOY WOMAN IN RIVER

Message Found Pinned to Tree at Freeport; No One Missing Here.

Freeport, Ill., May 7.—"You can find my body at the bottom of this river. I jumped off this bridge at 9 p. m. Miss G." A note bearing the above message was found pinned to a tree near the Stephenson street bridge this afternoon by a man by the name of Secker and turned over to Chief of Police Donatelli. At the bottom of the note was some sort of address, which had been scratched out but it appeared to be "Amboy, Ill." The police are not certain whether the note is the work of a practical joker or whether some woman really did end her life by jumping into the river last night. It is probable that the river will be dragged, if the police can find no further clue to the identity of the writer of the note. The message was written on a piece of scrap paper, an indelible pencil having been used in writing of the note. No One Missing at Amboy. Chief Donatelli got in touch with the authorities at Amboy late this afternoon and was advised that no one from Amboy or vicinity had been reported missing.

Faith Endured Thru Divorce, Disgrace

Last year Goodman was arrested in Los Angeles after his accounts as cashier of a brokerage firm showed a discrepancy of $2500. He was sentenced to a year in jail. The woman who accompanied him in the gay whirl of Chicago cabarets stepped out by her automobile as partial restitution to cover the discrepancy. Then she promised to marry Goodman and help him when he was released. Two days ago he was freed.

No Blood Found to Save Life of Child

Brooklyn, N. Y., May 8.—(NEA Service.)—Death waits at the bedside of Mimi Gagliana, 18 months of age, in Long Island College Hospital, because no person with blood like his can be found. Here, in the great melting pot of humanity, where flow the bloods of all races and tribes of the earth, hundreds have volunteered to give their blood for a transfusion. That seems to be the child's only hope of living. There have been only four types of blood known to science until now, but Mimi's blood cannot be classified as any of them. The babe had pneumonia, then anemia. Physicians believe his illness set up a change in his blood. To transcribe blood of another type into his veins would almost surely be fatal to him. And so Death, baffling science, waits.

Proposal Made by Sen. Lodge, Foreign Relations Committee

Washington, May 8.—Establishment of a world court at The Hague, which the United States would adhere, was proposed today in a resolution introduced by Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, chairman of the foreign relations committee. For the purpose of creating the new tribunal, President Coolidge would be "respectfully requested to propose the calling of the third Hague conference." The resolution embodied a complete plan for the proposed court. It would be composed of 16 judges selected by an electoral commission. This commission would consist of a "general committee composed of representatives designated by the signatory powers and a special committee composed of representatives designated by the United States, British Empire, France, Italy and Japan together with representatives of five other signatory powers which powers shall be selected by the signatory powers by a majority vote from time to time." Members of the court would be selected by the electoral commission from a list of persons nominated by the national governments in the permanent court of arbitration. The tribunal would sit at least once a year with extraordinary sessions authorized at the call of its president. The signatory powers would recognize "as compulsory, ipso facto," the jurisdiction of the court in all cases of legal dispute concerning interpretation of a treaty; questions of international law; evidence of breach of international obligations; and the nature and extent of indemnity for such breach.

PARTIES ARE NECESSARY.
By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, May 8.—Party organization was declared to be necessary to efficient government by President Coolidge in an address at the White House today to students of a "political campaign school," conducted by the League of Republican Women of the District of Columbia.

"It is necessary to have party organization if we are to have effective and efficient government," the President said.

"The only difference between a mob and a trained army is organization and the only difference between a disorganized country and one that has the advantage of sound government is fundamentally a question of organization."

ELECTROCUTION OF THREE SET FOR TOMORROW

Supreme Court is Only Hope for Kentucky Slayers' Lives.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Edyville, Ky., May 8.—Whether the first triple electrocution in Kentucky is staged here tomorrow depends to-day upon possibility of presentation of the supreme court of a plea for a writ of error in the case of Frank Thomas, 71, murderer, and action of that tribunal. The aged man, with a record of three slain men, faces the chair for the killing of Lee Arbogast.

With Thomas in the death house, are George Weick, sentenced to die for slaying William Oelke, and Charles Miller, a negro, given the death penalty for killing two railroad guards.

Thomas first was placed in the death house in January, 1923. Shortly before the date of his execution his counsel obtained a hearing on his sanity and the jury declared him insane.

He later was declared sane. Last week petition for a writ of error to carry the case to the Supreme Court was granted and a stay of execution withdrawn.

PEOPLE'S COLUMN

ABOUT A FOOD SALE
Editor Telegraph.—While the food sale held at Cahill's electric shop Saturday, May 3, was sponsored by members of the relief committee and those who donated were members of the American Legion Auxiliary, the sale should not have been advertised as a relief committee sale.

The funds raised were used in behalf of an American Legion member who is down and out and the work was commended by those who knew and those who remember and appreciate the sacrifices made by the World War boys.

The drill team, known as the American Legion Auxiliary drill team, has always been a self-supporting division of the Auxiliary. Funds raised were raised by themselves for certain purposes. This drill team is about to disband and will reorganize as a military drill team.

FOREMAN OF JURY DENIES POLITICS CUT ANY FIGURE

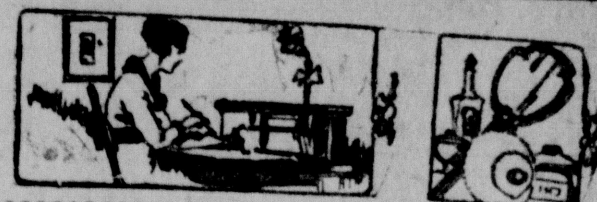

Writes Letter to Senate Committee Concerning G. & U.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Chicago, May 8.—Charles M. Fink, of Joliet, Ill., foreman of the federal grand jury which a year ago indicted officers and principals involved in the distribution of the liquor stocks of Grommes & Ulrich, a liquor firm, for conspiracy, has addressed a letter to the Daugherty senate investigating committee in which he took exception to newspaper reports of the testimony before the committee of C. A. Williams, one of those indicted and who acted as counsel for the liquor distribution.

Mr. Fink said newspaper reports showed Mr. Williams had testified he was indicted because of political differences with the republican group in Illinois headed by Attorney General Brundage. The indictments, Mr. Fink's letter said, were returned upon the evidence presented, the writer adding that he was not connected with the Brundage faction in any way.

TRY TO BE THE FELLOW THAT YOUR MOTHER THINKS

While walking down a crowded city street the other day
I heard a little urchin to a comrade turn and say:
"Say, Jimmie, don't you know, I'd be happy as a clam.
If I only was de feller dat me mud-der tinkt I am."

She tinkt I am a wonder and knows her little lad
Would never mix wit' nothin' dat was ugly, mean or bad;
I often sit and tink how nice 'twould be—gee whiz.
If a feller was de feller dat his mud-der tinkt he is."

So, folks, be yours a life of toll or undisturbed joy.
You still can learn a lesson from the small, unlettered boy:
Don't try to be an earthly saint, with eyes fixed on a star—
Just try to be the fellow that your mother thinks you are.

Enjoyed Weenie and Marshmallow Roast

Last Friday evening about thirty boys and girls, members of the Sunday school classes of Miss Smice and H. Wadsworth of the Bethel United Evangelical church, gathered at the home of Miss Alice Alters to enjoy a weenie and marshmallow roast.
All anticipated a good time and were disappointed when it started to rain. They then left the scene of their picnic supper and reached the house in the midst of much hurry and laughter.

Games and music were enjoyed and at a late hour weenies and other refreshments were served.
The guests departed for their home at a late hour, after spending an enjoyable evening, in spite of the rain.

SIMPLE AND PRACTICAL

Here is a frock at once decorative and practical. It is of black satin trimmed with rows of narrow braid fagoted together and with bell-shaped sleeves richly embroidered. The cut is very simple, merely a straightline frock, unbelled, but the general effect is excellent.

Reporter, Adjudged Insane After Hoax; Was Refused Asylum

Clinda, Ia., May 8.—John Duncan, Des Moines newspaper reporter who feigned insanity and was ordered committed to the state hospital for the insane by the Polk County Sanitary Commission yesterday, was denied admittance to the hospital today when officials were informed Duncan's newspaper had planned the case to demonstrate that criminals might escape prosecution by assuming the role of a lunatic.

Dr. Max Witte, head of the institution, examined Duncan and declared him sane, and presumably with the consent of the sanitary commission, refused to admit the reporter, who was brought here in a straight jacket by Polk county deputy sheriffs.

WOULD BOOST POSTAL RATES.

Tax-fixing bodies, from congress down, would do well to give a little more thought and study to finding ways of affecting economies in government so that taxation might be reduced, instead of accepting so generally the claims of taxeaters and charging the bill up to the public and calling for increased taxation.

Just now congressmen are threatening to add more than a mite to high cost of living by increasing parcel post rates. Only a short time ago you may have sent a package that cost you 9 cents by parcel post. If the bill introduced by Congressman Paige should go through, then a similar package will cost you 27 cents in the future. In short, the bill proposes to treble parcel post rates. Put yourself in the place of the treasurer of a big manufacturing company, or of a wholesale house, who has been in the habit of signing checks for a thousand dollars or so to cover the cost of his parcel post shipments. He faces the prospect of making his check $3000 instead of $1000. Well, if the bill passes, you, Mr. Ultimate Consumer, will have your share of that $3000 to pay whether you ever send a package by parcel post or not.

So many bills affecting the postal situation in the United States have been offered in congress lately that the public at large has failed to realize the significance of the items proposed.

There is a Kelly bill, proposing an increase of $150,000,000 to postal employees on a horizontal basis. Unquestionably postal employees are entitled to an increase in pay, especially when consideration is given to what building trades and other employees are asking and getting. Whether or not a horizontal increase is just and equitable is open to discussion. This bill may not get favorable consideration, inasmuch as the house committee has already rejected a proposition to give a flat increase of $400 to clerks, carriers, supervisors and inspectors. What new angle the proposed legislation may assume remains to be seen. Then there is the Paige bill, which, on the assumption that the Kelly or some similar bill may become law, proposes to raise $110,000,000 of the $150,000,000 pay increase by an increase in parcel post, second and third class rates. Raising the funds by an arbitrary increase in rates, if resorted to, will not only be unfair, but it is likely to be ineffectual because trebling of the rates must result in a loss of business—a divergence of a large part of the parcel post business to the express companies.

Indeed the amendments to the postal salary increase bill are becoming a maze. New amendments were adopted by the house committee yesterday. One would grant increased compensation to third and fourth class postmasters and rural mail carriers, the increases to be scaled according to stamp cancellations. Still another amendment would give fourth class postmasters an aggregate increase of $1,900,000, this also to be based on stamp cancellations.

Postmaster General New wisely advocates that there be no hasty action in the matter of these bills. He advocates awaiting the report of the postal department investigators who have been working for several months making the most thorough analysis of costs ever undertaken. This report, which will give the equitable basis on which any necessary increase should be made, will be ready in July or August. Congress authorized this investigation and appropriated half a million dollars for its making. It would surely be unbusiness like to ignore the findings of this investigation and to act before the report is in its hands. Why thus throw away a half million dollars?

OPERA FOR EVERYBODY.

"There is enough musical talent going to waste in this country to furnish material for a dozen grand-opera companies," says Otto H. Kahn, business head of the Metropolitan opera company of New York. He wants American cities to use this talent.

Mr. Kahn points to Italy and Germany, where every city of importance has its own opera house. Eventually he hopes to see the same situation in the United States. For the present he suggests an intermediate policy. Instead of regular opera being confined to cities like New York and Chicago, with such few outside performances as the companies in those cities are able to give, he would like to see operatic companies organized in several of the leading cities throughout the country, each serving as the musical metropolis of its section, with the cooperation of neighboring cities. Thus a group of half a dozen or a dozen music-loving cities might be able to support a genuinely fine company, and all have a regular opera season every year, where one alone could not hope to do so.

PILLS OR PRAYERS.

Rev. O. J. Gary, brother of Judge Gary who presides over U. S. Steel, arrives from Chile. He has been a Methodist minister for 41 years. He says he has had great success with "divine healing" among the natives—amoints them with oil and prays.

The scientific mind may scoff at the idea, even though it requires colossal egotism to place the power of pills ahead of the power of the Almighty. Skeptical science, however, is based on vanity.

GOLF.

A glut for statistics figures out that a golf fan expends 1600 calories of energy in a game. This includes swings with the clubs and walking from hole to hole, but no allowances for energy vented in outbursts of rage.

The average golfer in one game uses up a third of the energy his body generates in a day. It is obvious, why golf is a dangerous sport for devotees who overdo it, especially the old. More people die playing golf than any other game.

GANGWAY!

The proposed electrical "super-power system" is discussed intelligently by W. S. Murray, engineer and author of the original government report on super-power. There is much to be said for and against, but not in an editorial of 86 words.

Murray timed his bid for attention a bit late, the baseball season having opened. Said baseball season must be delightedly welcomed by politicians under investigation in Washington, D. C. Who was the humorists who said we Americans take life too seriously?

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

by Olive Roberts Barton
NO. 22—THE TWINS VISIT ROBIN.
SON CRUSOE

Robinson Crusoe was sitting on the Seashore

"Does Robinson Crusoe live in Once-Upon-a-Time land?" asked Nick.

"Of course he does," said Mister Muggs, and so does his man Friday and his dog and his parrot and his goat.

"I'd like to visit him," said Nick. "May we go?"

"Why, yes, I think the old man would like to have company," answered the fairyman. "He must get lonely."

So they got into the little automobile and whizzed away to Once-Upon-a-Time Land, but they soon came to the edge of it and they had to get out and take a little boat and sail off to the desert island where Robinson Crusoe lived.

Robinson Crusoe was sitting on the seashore with his goat-skin umbrella over him. The Twins thought it a funny parasol, but then it was no queerer than his cap and coat and shoes, which were also of goat-skin.

On top of the umbrella sat a parrot sound asleep in the sun.

"Hello, hello, hello!" screamed the parrot, suddenly opening his eyes. "Wake up, Crusoe. Here's a boat load of cannibals! Help! Help! More cannibals!"

"Keep quiet and go and call my black man, Friday," said Robinson Crusoe jumping up and upsetting the bird off his perch.

"How do you do, good people," he said. "It's been many a year since I've seen a white man. Come into my house and have some cheese and a cup of goat's milk. Besides Friday is to be done by this time."

"Barley bread! Does barley grow on this desert island?" asked Mister Muggs, and he bled today and it ought Muggs in surprise.

"Yes," said Robinson Crusoe. "I discovered some grain in an old sack that I found after my ship was wrecked and I planted them. We have quite a barley crop now."

"Friday! Friday! Man Friday!" they heard the parrot screaming. "Come out and give these folks a goat to milk. And throw a barley loaf at them!"

"What a funny bird!" laughed the Twins. "And isn't he smart?"

"His voice is better than his manners," said Robinson Crusoe. After that they all went to the house, half of which was hollowed out like a cave, and half of which was made out of old sails stretched over posts. It was completely surrounded by a high fence that Crusoe had made when he was first shipwrecked on the island.

There was no gate so they had to climb up a rope ladder on the outside, and then down a rope ladder on the inside. Everything was as snug and tidy as a bird's nest.

And if they thought Robinson Crusoe's clothes were odd, I'm sure I don't know what they thought of Man Friday's for there wasn't enough of them to make remarks about.

Robinson Crusoe's dog was there and his two cats and his goat and his parrot, and altogether they had a merry party.

The wrecked sailor told them stories of his adventures for an hour, and how he expected to get home soon to London, but that he loved his desert island too well to leave it.

"We'll have to be going now," said Mister Muggs. "Thank you for being nice to us. Goodbye!"

"Goodbye," said Polly. "Come back when you can't stay so long."

THE NUT CRACKER

TENNIS, PRO AND CON

BILL TILDEN and Vinny Richards have foot faulted into professional tennis and are now as exclusive as aching bunions on the toes of a wood en leg.

BILLY and Vinny used to be the two best amateurs in the household, now they are the two worst professionals, having been indicted on the heinous charge of writing instead of loafing for a living.

ALL PLAY and no work makes Throckmorton Astorbilt III a dumb animal but keeps his amateur standing sacred.

MOTHERS wishing to bring their flop-eared sons up in the noble charity of pure amateurism should keep them free from the contaminating influence of portable typewriters and the iniquities of editorial rooms.

THE sympathy of a large disinterested public is with Tilden and Richards, mainly because neither of the young gents ever wore a towel around his noodle on the courts.

TEN RICKARD says he will put professional tennis on its feet and we hope he'll be able to keep it there longer than he did Firpo.

WITH Rickard taking over the sport, the dear boys will have to battle under straight Marquis of Queensbury rules, with clean breaks and no biting in the cinches.

PERHAPS the time is not far distant when thousands of fans will storm Madison Square Gardens to Watch Wild Poodle of the Ritz clash with the Infuriated Canary of the Boulevards in the first international professional tennis championship.

WHATEVER virtues the idea may have, pro tennis can never hope to be a success until Judge Landis consents to dignify it at fifty thousand snickers a year.

IT is said that when the Europeans learned that Tilden and Richards would not compete in the Olympics they broke down and shed salty tears . . . large salty tears of joy.

The word "family," as used in the census, means a group of persons, rather related by blood or not, who live together as one household.

FINAL DECISION ON TAX BILL IS SOUGHT FRIDAY

Showdown on Bill Will Come When Act as Whole is Voted.

Washington, May 7.—Party leaders maneuvered today for final decision on the income tax rates in the revenue bill as the senate, meeting an hour earlier than usual, took up the corporation and estate taxes in a drive to wind up consideration of the measure.

The showdown on the income schedule will come when the bill as a whole comes to a vote, and those in charge of the measure sought today to get final action tomorrow or Friday.

Republicans were determined to replace the Simmons income tax rates put into the bill by a democratic-republican insurgent coalition with a compromise schedule.

Senator Jones, democrat, New Mexico, opened debate today with an explanation of his substitute proposal for the income tax. The substitute has the endorsement of the democratic conference, but President Coolidge let it be known yesterday he did not favor the scheme.

The senate already has modified this tax to make it 14 instead of 12 1/2 percent and eliminated the special capital stock levy.

Merger of Methodist Churches is Ratified

Springfield, Mass., May 7.—Unification of the Methodist Episcopal church with the Methodist Episcopal church South, was ratified by the Methodist Episcopal general conference today.

Amid wild applause Bishop W. F. Dowall of Washington concluded his speech on the report submitted by the special commission on unification. Dr. D. G. Downey of New York, moved that it be adopted on W. A. C. Hughes, a negro delegate from Washington, D. C., seconded the motion.

The council of bishops of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, is in session at Nashville, Tenn., awaiting the conference action, it was announced and the vote will be communicated to the council at once. The vote for adoption was 842 to 132.

McADOO ENDORSED
Oklahoma City, Okla., May 7.—Oklahoma democrats in convention here last night endorsed the presidential candidacy of William G. McAdoo, but declined to instruct its 20 delegates to the national convention to support any particular candidate. This action represented a compromise between the two factions favoring and opposing a McAdoo-instructed delegation.

Resolutions were adopted assailing the present republican administration as the most incompetent and corrupt in the history of the United States.

The convention endorsed compensation for ex-service men and favored an immigration law "conducive to Americanism" and designed "to protect American labor." A child labor law also was advocated.

Chicago, May 7.—"Liberty," a new $25,000 prize weekly magazine, published by the owners of the Chicago Tribune and the New York News appeared today with the name of George A. Elwell, Youngstown, Ohio, as the winner of the first prize of $20,000 for the best title and slogan for the magazine—"Liberty," a weekly periodical for everyone.

Mr. Elwell sent in 3,017 suggestions. All together the publishers received a total of 1,395,322 suggestions.

Mr. Elwell is a commercial artist, writer and inventor who with his wife and four small children find the award more than ordinarily welcome for he had been out of work for three months in Minneapolis and Duluth, when he packed his family in a small automobile and started eastward Christmas night. He arrived in Youngstown New Year's night and soon had a job.

MEMORIAL AND PEACE DAY BOOK ISSUED BY BLAIR

Supt. of Instruction in Appeal to Patriots to Preach Peace.

Springfield, May 8.—Every patriot a preacher of peace, as well as a fighter for the "integrity of the nation" is the lesson borne to all the school children of the state in the Memorial and Peace Day Book, just issued here by Francis G. Blair, state superintendent of public instruction.

Memorial Day comes on May 30 each year.
Following Mr. Blair's introduction the book contains a picture of John A. Logan's statue, and a copy of his general order directing the first appearance of Memorial Day, in 1868. Tribute to the last Presidents Harding and Wilson follows, and then a story of the heroism of Sterling Morelock of Monmouth, Ill., who won a congressional Medal of Honor in France, as a member of Company M, 28 Infantry of the First Division.

Mr. Blair's dedicatory note is as follows:
"When a nation is involved in war to maintain its existence, every loyal man and woman will join hands and efforts to win a quick and complete victory. When our nation entered the World War, whatever had been their previous views, all patriotic citizens accepted the issue and gave themselves unreservedly to the accomplishment of the great end. Unfortunately there were men and women who, for one reason or another, were openly or covertly opposed to our entering the war. Some of these justified their opposition on the ground that they were opposed to all war. When all the energies of a nation are being mobilized to preserve its existence, the quick judgment of patriotic people is that every man or woman who opposes war on any ground is unpatriotic, if not traitorous. These opinions, formed when the blood is hot and the temper disturbed, carry over into the days succeeding the war.

"In the post-war days the statesman who bore the burden of conflict, the generals and soldiers who fought and won the battles are usually the first ones to speak about the horrors of the conflict and their earnest desire that so such war will ever again have to be fought again. Some of them speak much more pointedly and sympathetically in that direction. Of course such opinions by such men are received from certain other quarters there is quick and hot resentment. The charges of disloyalty, of international pacifism, is flung at them. Then ministers of the gospel in the pulpit, or teachers in the schools speak of the coming of a reign of universal peace, some good men and women leap to the conclusion that they are spreading propaganda destructive to a proper feeling of nationalism. While here and there a preacher of peace may be a dangerous and disturbing citizen, the great mass of those who earnestly desire and eagerly seek a world wide, permanent peace are good neighbors,

good citizens and true patriots.

preacher of, and a worker for universal peace.

EPWORTH LEAGUE NOTES

Miss Margaret Andrews spoke to the Epworth League last Sunday evening on the interesting topic of "Hymns of Our Faith." The stories of many of the old famous hymns were told and the hymns themselves were sung. Some of these were, "Break Thou the Bread of Life," "Lead, Kindly Light," and "Where Cross the Crowded Ways of Life." Several commented on the effect of hymns in general and named their favorite ones. The service was a helpful one. There were two special numbers on the program which were very much enjoyed. The first was a vocal solo by Denning Hintze. The second was a reading by Miss Vera Podgett of the Christian Endeavor at the Disciples' church. Her selection was, "The Man in the Shadow," by R. W. Child. The story, that of a man who played the hero unnoted in life, was an inspiring one well told.

This evening at 6:30 the Epworth and International groups are meeting at the church for supper and are following it with the annual selection of a new cabinet. After the election the fourth department will have some interesting entertainment planned. A great many young folks will probably be there.

Following, briefly told, is the story of Doctor Guthrie's famous beads of friendship which was promised in last week's "Notes." Doctor Guthrie's General Secretary of the Epworth League and when he was visiting the Hawaiian Islands a year and a half ago, the Epworthians there wanted to give him some token of friendship to show the Epworthians of Europe, to which place he was going next. Their custom is to hang a wreath around the necks of departing friends but this would endure so they gave him a time they wanted something which Europe the first thing the young people everywhere wanted to see was the string of beads. When he arrived in string of friendship beads, and everywhere he went all over Europe the Epworth Leaguers added a strand of beads to show their fellowship and good will. By the time he had arrived home in America, Doctor Guthrie had more beads than he could get around his neck at once.

Every League group he addressed in America asks him the first thing to see the friendship beads. The collection is still growing and beads are made of all kinds of material representing the countries from which they come. One of the most interesting strands is the Institute chain which has a special bead sent by each League Institute and characteristic of each part of the country. For instance from Pennsylvania came a piece of polished anthracite while an Institute in Kansas sent a little gold oil derrick. The whole collection typifies Epworthian friendship around the world.

Here is the stand taken by the Louisville Convention of Methodist students two weeks ago on the question of war. There were three major resolutions. Here is the first:

1. That the Student Conference memorialize the General Conferences of the two Methodisms that the church as such should never again officially bless or sanction war.

2. That the general conference be memorialized to bring influence on the President and Congress of the United States to join the World Court, the League of Nations, or any substitute therefor for the overcoming of international anarchy and chaos, and for the substitution of legal measure for force.

3. That the church be called upon to urge the United States toward the international outlawry of war.

4. That the individual delegates seek as individuals to eliminate, as far as they are personally concerned, any of the causes which might lead toward war.

The second resolution was the putting of the conference on record as endorsing as its conviction the resolution adopted by the Council of ICLES at Pittsburgh at its meeting last month.

The third resolution stated the conference's conviction that inasmuch as military training in colleges is a form of preparedness for war and not in harmony with Christ, the conference should go on record as urgently recommending the abolishment of military training, that is the R. T. C. in the colleges and universities of Methodism.

A complete explanation of the full meaning of Christian Stewardship and an appeal to become stewards of day devotional service. Holland Horton will have charge of this important Christ will be made at the regular Sun- and vital meeting.

One week from Sunday will be Anniversary Day and one of the best programs the League has put on this year is being planned for that evening. Full announcement will be made next week.

Constipation makes bright children dull—give them relief with Kellogg's Bran Constipation dulls the youthful mind—makes children backward in their studies—makes them listless—and can lead to serious diseases. Constipation is a dangerous disease.

You cannot afford to take chances in getting relief. You cannot afford to experiment or put off. Kellogg's Bran brings relief—permanent relief if eaten regularly. Even in the most chronic cases of constipation it is guaranteed to bring results. If it fails, your grocer will return your money.

Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, has brought relief to thousands because it is ALL bran. Remember, only ALL bran can be 100 per cent effective. That is why Kellogg's Bran is recommended by doctors. It sweeps, cleans and purifies the intestine. It causes regular, healthy, normal action. For it works as nature works. It is ALL bran.

Have your children eat it regularly—two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. Eat it with milk or cream. Sprinkle it over other cereals. Cook it with hot cereals. Try it in the wonderful recipes on every package.

The flavor is delicious—a crisp, nut-like flavor that delights the taste. Different by far from ordinary bran, which are unpalatable.

Begin serving Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, to your children to-day. Eat it yourself. The leading hotels and clubs serve it. Made in Battle Creek. It is sold by all grocers.

MOTHER'S DAY WAS STARTED BY KY. WOMAN

Was First Observed in Early Nineties; Is Now Universal.

The originator of the idea of Mother's Day was a Henderson, Ky., woman, Mary Towles Sassen, born and reared in the beautiful little city on the south bank of the Ohio river. Henderson has population of about 15,000, says the Illinois Central railroad's monthly magazine.

Miss Sassen was born in the 60's. For many years she was a teacher in the public schools of Henderson.

The later years of her service as an instructor were spent as principal of the primary department of Center street school. There are now in Henderson many persons who received their early education under her. All of them recall the observance of a certain day which Miss Sassen designated as being a memorial in honor of all mothers. Special programs of singing and recitations were held by the pupils to celebrate Mother's Day as long ago as the early 90's.

Chose Her Own Mother's Birthday At that time, April 20 was observed as Mother's Day. That was the natal day of Miss Sassen's mother, which was her reason for choosing it rather than some other date.

In 1893 Miss Sassen published a pamphlet outlining her ideas as to the desirability of commemorating the tender ties and bestowing a tribute of honor to the mothers of our land. This booklet was copy written that year. She traveled extensively and addressed educational societies and other organizations in various parts of the country in her effort to have the observance of Mother's Day nationally recognized and adopted. In 1894, through her efforts, the day was formally celebrated in all the public schools of Springfield, Ohio. In 1899 Miss Sassen became a candidate for superintendent of public instruction in Kentucky, and it was generally discussed over the state that she had first conceived the plan of celebrating Mother's Day.

Many years afterward, Miss Jennie Jarvis of Philadelphia invited a friend to spend the second Sunday in May with her to commemorate with her the anniversary of her mother's death. This was in 1907. On that occasion Miss Jarvis announced her plan for the national observance of Mother's Day. The following year Philadelphia observed the second Sunday in May as Mother's Day, with fitting memorial services in the churches and homes. Miss Jarvis meanwhile had written thousands of letters to the prominent ministers, teachers, business and professional men about the plan, and press dispatches carried the news story over the country, many newspapers discussing the plan with favor in their editorial column.

Miss Sassen came of a distinguished family of Kentucky. She was a grand daughter of Judge Thomas Towles, a noted jurist of his day. Her ancestors were all Revolutionary stock. She was known as a very successful teacher. Her pupils of the long ago still recall that she could be very firm when her youthful culprits were brought to task for some wrongdoing, but they remember her also for her keen sense of humor and kindly sentimentality.

Died in Florida in 1906

About 1900, Miss Sassen was married to Judge Marshall Wilson, and left Henderson to make her home in Florida. She died there in 1906. She is survived by one brother, Phelps Sassen, who is employed on the Southern Railway at Eastley, S. C. A cousin of Mrs. Wilson, Miss Susan S. Towles, is reference librarian at the Henderson Public Library.

The Henderson Chamber of Commerce and citizens interested in preserving the historical traditions of that city have recently launched a plan for erecting a memorial chapel in Henderson dedicated to the memory of the originator of Mother's Day. Miss Sassen was long a member of the Protestant Episcopal church in that city. The fund will be raised by subscription.

ATHLETICS HOIST DISTRESS SIGNAL AFTER 9 DEFEATS

Yanks Battered Mack's Men, 7 to 4; Giants Gain Half a Game.

(By Associated Press)

The Philadelphia Athletics are hoisting distress signals in the American League. For the ninth consecutive time the Mackmen have been beaten until they are at the bottom. Brute batting strength by the Yanks yesterday sounded taps on the Mackmen 7-4.

The Boston Red Sox, one of the pre-season mystery teams, had their winning streak terminated by Washington 5-4 after 11 innings.

George Sisler's St. Louis Browns, slow in starting, are working smoothly now and yesterday they drove beyond the second division limits with a 19-8 victory and pulled up into a tie with the White Sox for the fourth position, the Chicago team being halted by rain. Jacobson, Brown center fielder, made five hits in five times at bat.

Giants Make Gain

The Giants, National League champions gained half a game on the Reds, defeating the Phillies in ten innings, 4-2, while the Reds were idle. The Cubs gained a notch on the Dodgers in the fight for the third place when they turned back the Pirates 5-1 while the Dodgers were losing to the Braves 4-1.

Tom Gulley, Cleveland outfielder obtained from the Florida State League, has been released to the Decatur Three-I club.

The Philadelphia Athletics will be without the services of Clarence Galloway, short stop, Galloway turned his ankle in the game against the Yanks. Harry Riconda will fill the gap.

No Cub-Pirate Trade

President William Veeck of the Chicago Nationals in Pittsburgh again set at rest rumors of a Hollocher-Manville trade between the Cubs and Pirates.

The Chicago White Sox eastern division starting tomorrow, will be made with a warped pitching staff. Faber being out because of a recently performed operation on his arm and Robertson on the bench with a sore wing.

"Snarky" Adams, Chicago Cub outfielder, will be out of the lineup for a few days to recover from a recent slump.

KEEPING BALL IN PLAY HELPS PITCHER TODAY

Veteran Ed Walsh Recalls Effectiveness of Box Men.

(By Associated Press Leased Wire)

Chicago, May 8.—The new rule of keeping the old ball in play as long as possible is giving pitchers more effectiveness, according to "Big Ed" Walsh, veteran spitball star, now first lieutenant to Manager Johnny Evers of the Chicago White Sox.

"Good pitching is not a thing of the past," said Walsh. "This new generation of pitchers is going to turn out as many stars as the old days and keeping balls in play longer is a big help. When they were putting new balls into the game every time it became soiled it was hard for the fellows to hit the pace and many a rookie was back to the bushes before he got started."

"The numerous lively balls were responsible for the home run epidemic. In the old days you will not find so many home runs. Runs on singles and fast base runners was a big factor. The sacrifice, stolen base and inside stuff won ball games."

"Now a pitcher might mow them down, when suddenly some fellow will drive a fast one out of the lot and the game is gone."

"Fifteen years ago there were only a few pitchers on each club and they were called on to pitch sometimes two or three times a week but now the clubs have four or five fellows who can take a regular turn, and a couple of reserve twirlers. In the old days a pitcher turned in a lot more games than the fellows today but that's not the fault of the present day twirlers."

Edith Day in "Wildflower" at the Apollo, Chicago. MAKES HIT IN CHICAGO.

GARRICK THEATER, CHICAGO.

Just because it's the biggest hit in Chicago, don't think that "Little Jessie James," that marvel of musical comedies, can stay there for ever. Other cities are clamoring for it, and in a few weeks it will be packing up and moving on, so don't delay if you want to see the fastest, peppiest, liveliest and most entertaining musical comedy that Old Chi has offered in many a season.

"Little Jessie James" is so full of fun and melody that you feel like coming from a real joy party after the performance. No one will deny that this little giant of musical comedy has the biggest song hits any one production has ever had. The list includes: "I Love You," "Suppose I Had Never Met You," "May Home Town," "The Blue Bird," "Little Jessie James," "From Broadway to Main Street" and a dozen others.

No one will argue with you as to the merits of the James Boys (The Paul Whiteman Band) that is a special feature of the evening. Anyone who has seen it will agree with you that the bevy of beautiful damsels called "The James Girls" are the fastest, most fascinating and talented chorus of all time.

The cast speaks for itself. Little Gregory Kelly, making his debut in musical comedy after many years in the Booth Tarkington plays, has completely captured his audiences, and is a revelation as a singing and dancing comedian. Olga Steck, who sings the title role, is as beautiful as she is talented. Roger Gray, who came to the Chicago company from the one now playing its ninth month in New York, is a comedian of rare ability. James B. Carson, Madeline Fairbanks (of the Fairbanks twins), John W. Hundley, Madeline Grey, Martha Throop and Mary Jeffrey are some of the cast that are prominent, with the others specially mentioned.

L. Lawrence Weber is the producer, Walter Brooks the stage director, Harry Archer the composer and Harlan Thompson the author of the book and lyrics.

Matinees are played on Wednesday and Saturday. Mail orders addressed to the Treasurer, Garrick Theater, Chicago, will be filled in the order received.

Grant Mitchell and "The Whole Town's Talking" Attracting Large Attendance at the Adelphi Theater.

That inimitable comedian, Grant Mitchell, has entered upon a highly successful engagement at the new Adelphi Theater as the star of "The Whole Town's Talking," one of the liveliest farces seen in Chicago in many seasons. This is the enjoyable "riot of fun" from the pens of John Emerson and Anita Loos which remained for seven months in New York, and judging by the enthusiasm with which it has been received in Chicago by both the critics and the public, it promises to repeat in the West the great success which marked its career on Broadway.

The story of "The Whole Town's Talking" is undeniably funny. It concerns the life of a small town young man who knows nothing whatever about women. His business partner, an older man who knows everything about them, desires that the first-mentioned chap marry his daughter. It so happens, however, that this daughter will have nothing to do with any male who is not thoroughly experienced in affairs with the opposite sex. Therefore, it becomes necessary for the father and the would-be-lover to lure the young lady into matrimony through a subtle ruse. They invent a past for the innocent young man, a lurid, hectic past that no rouse would be ashamed of. They pick out a famous movie queen as though one with whom the awkward Lothario had had a blazing affair, and the tale is spread all over the town. Whereupon, matters are decidedly complicated by the arrival in the same town of the same movie queen in question. She learns of this imaginary love episode and, to make her real fiance jealous, announced publicly that it is all quite true. What follows may better be imagined than described; but it is hilarious enough to make the very walls of the Adelphi Theater rock on their foundations, so to speak.

And one of the most attractive features of the entertainment is its clean wholesomeness which delights children as well as adults.

My true love hath my heart, and I have his,
By just exchange one to the other given;
I hold his dear, and mine he cannot miss,
There never was a better bargain driven.
My true love hath my heart, and I have his.

His heart in me keeps him and me in one,
My heart in him his thoughts and senses guides;
He loves my heart, for once it was his own,
I cherish his because in me it bides:
My true love hath my heart, and I have his.

FASHION GOES SCIENCE ONE BETTER

The magic carpet of the Arabian Nights, which transported one in the twinkling of an eye to the other side of the world, must surely have been inherited by the designer of women's clothes for who else can annihilate space and disregard time by bringing continents and centuries together in one dress.

Not even the wonders of modern science are quite as wonderful as the 1924 costume. Here, for instance, is Madame in a most successful coat frock which combines a strictly Chinese tunic with a dashing collar and vest of Directoire inspiration. Truly "Incomparable" but none the less attractive. Moreover, this is an extremely practical frock, both in its design and material. The long flat tunic opens on the right side, and obviates the necessity of slipping over the head and crushing the snowy whiteness of the collar. It is developed in navy blue bengaline, a material which Henri Creange, the Cheney authority, tells us is in high favor this season, is bordered with a bright red woolen galloon, and set over a pleated underskirt of the new short length prescribed by Paris. The slashes at the side give freedom of movement and the deep V opening is very new.

The gulimpe, if we may so call this very distinguished specimen, was in the original, made of white satin. It could, however, be just as well developed in pique or linen. It is of course removable, and with two or three bits one can be always dainty.

FRUIT BLOOMS HEAVILY By Associated Press Leased Wire Springfield, Ill., May 7.—Fruit, with the exception of peaches, is blooming heavily in Illinois, according to the weekly crop bulletin issued here today for the week ending yesterday.

NEW OIL FROM GERMANY Stops Pain Instantly in Many Cases. For years the cause of rheumatism has been laid to a dozen different reasons. Learned doctors even disagreed among themselves. Only lately has it been definitely demonstrated that the real cause of many cases of rheumatism is the absorption by the body of poisons from some internal infection.

These poisons are absorbed by the blood and deposited in the joints and muscles, where they quickly set up inflammation and cause agonizing pain.

And now the same German chemistry that created those well-known painkillers, Aspirin for headaches and Novocain for painless dentistry, has come forward with a newly discovered oil for rheumatic pain—stops the pain at once in many cases. This oil is so penetrating that it disappears a few seconds after it is rubbed on the skin.

So astonishing have been the results from its use in Europe that the American distributors have authorized local druggists to give this oil to rheumatic sufferers in this city with a positive written guarantee signed by themselves, to return the full purchase price of the first bottle if you do not get immediate relief from pain.

If you are a sufferer from rheumatic pain, no matter how long standing, you owe it to yourself to try this wonderful new discovery on this no-risk offer and see how quickly the pains disappear. It is called Buhler Oil and it is sold by all good druggists, as at Public Drug & Book Co., 308 E. Boyd St., or at the following Pharmacy: Thomas Sullivan, 308 E. Boyd St. 10193

HIS BROTHER'S WIFE

by RUDY AYRES
© NEA SERVICE

BEGIN HERE TODAY
The marriage of Dolly and Nigel Bretherton proves an unhappy one. When war is declared, Nigel is glad to enlist. He leaves Dolly in the care of his mother. Nigel is killed and Dolly marries an old sweetheart, Robert Durham.

David, who is given a hearty welcome to her new home. When Dora Fisher comes to call at Red Grange, Mary asks David not to accompany Dora to the station.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
She escaped past him now, and went into the hall, where Miss Vaney and Dora Fisher stood together. Mary thought that the latter looked at her rather curiously as she joined them; she was conscious of her hot cheeks and nervous manner. She went on to the front door, and stood looking out into the darkening garden.

The headlights of the big car panned the gloom like violent eyes, throwing everything beyond into acute shadow.

Bretherton passed her and climbed into the front seat; he did not look at her.

After a moment or two Dora followed him; she was laughing and talking all the time; she shook hands with Mary effusively.

"I am so pleased to have met you," she said. "I hope we shall be great friends. You must come and stay with us in town, will you?"

Mary's troubled eyes turned towards David, but he was sitting at the wheel, staring straight in front of him. She began a stumbling reply.

"Thank you—thank you very much, but I shall not be here much longer; I am only on a visit, you know. Thank you very much, all the same."

A little flash of interest crept into Dora's face, but it was gone instantly.

"Is that so? I didn't know; but perhaps you will be able to spare us a week-end sometime. Goodbye."

She got into the car beside David. He drew the rug round her punctiliously. Mary watched them with an aching little heartache.

She resented Dora being there in her place; she stood in the cool darkness for some moments after the car had turned out of the drive.

Mary called to her from the hall. "Come in, my dear—come in! You will catch your death of cold!"

Mary obeyed reluctantly; she was surprised to find that she was quite chilled. She walked back to the drawing-room and knelt down by the fire; Miss Vaney followed.

"I'm glad she didn't stay," she said, with a little comfortable laugh. "I do try to like her, for David's sake, but in my heart I don't really like her at all."

Mary did not look round; she was holding her hands to the blaze. "Why—why for David's sake?" she asked, rather constrainedly.

"Well, for one reason, her brother is his greatest friend, and for another—well, they have known each other all their lives."

"I see! Do you—do you think he will—marry her?"

Mary Vaney said "Good heavens!" in a voice of horror.

She stared down at Mary's black-robed figure, her eyes that were almost frightened.

"My dear child! What put such an idea into your head?"

Mary laughed. "Oh, I don't know. Why should it be anything so very strange, after all? You say they are old friends, and she is very—pretty."

But in spite of her irritation, his indifference piqued her; she made every effort to interest him.

She began to speak about Mary. "Such a dear!" she gushed. "I had no idea she was so nice. Monty never thought much of her, you know."

"No?"

"He said he considered she was rather common, but I should hardly call her that, would you?"

"Hardly."

It was not encouraging, but she went on.

"I was so surprised when she told me that she is only with you on a visit. I quite thought that she was going to live here."

"I hope she will." The answer was quiet and unconcerned.

Dora bit her lip angrily, but her voice was sugary enough when she next spoke.

"Do you? How awfully sweet of you! I think she is so fortunate to have such kind relations-in-law; as a rule they are rather horrid, don't you think?"

"I've never been married—so I can't judge," said David. He sent the car forward a trifle more quickly; through the night had sounded the distant whistle of the incoming train.

"I think we shall just catch it," he said smoothly.

The train was at the platform when they left the car outside the station; there were only a few seconds in which to say good-by.

Dora swallowed her chagrin as best she could; her pretty face was wreathed in smiles as she leaned from the carriage window.

"It has been so nice to see you again; you won't forget us next time you come to London, David?"

"I certainly will not. Tell Monty I will look him up."

She repeated:

"Not at all; I will make a special point of calling to see you."

But the words were impalpable in spite of the accompanying smile; the last glimpse she had of him was his grave face, from which all consciousness of her was already fading.

CHAPTER XXXIV
A Change of Color

SHE sat back in her corner of the empty carriage frowningly. After all, she almost regretted having paid the visit at all; Red Grange had seemed even more alluring than she had previously remembered it, and David less susceptible to her charms.

Why was he so different from all the other men of her acquaintance? she asked herself angrily. She could enumerate half a dozen in as many seconds who would have given anything for the chance of a possibly lengthened acquaintance with her; but David had merely driven the car faster to get rid of her.

But David's very indifference lent a spur to her hitherto only half-formed resolve. She would marry him; she would marry him in spite of everything, and be mistress of the Red Grange.

And as for that pale-faced widow of Nigel's—Dora's face hardened as she recalled the friendly way in which she and David had entered the drawing-room that afternoon, fresh from their drive.

Monty had been right when he said that from what he knew of the girl she would lose no opportunity to entrench herself at the Red Grange; and she had certainly done a lot during the short-time of her stay there.

"Scheming little nobody!" was the thought in Dora's mind.

She tried to remember what else Monty had said about her beside the fact that she was common; she knelt her brows, puzzling her brain to remember.

There was something else, she was sure; something—oh, yes, he had called her "pretty," in a sort of a way, and commented on the fact that she had red-brown hair.

That was so like a man, to make such a mistake! Red-brown hair, indeed! Why, it was the most ordinary mouse-colored shade.

And her clothes! Dora remembered Mary's simple black frock; home-made, she had designated it from the first. Whatever on earth could Nigel have seen in her? Nigel, who always so admired a smart woman.

SMALL SUGGESTS PLANTING BIRCH TREE FOR MOTHER

Proclamation Calls on People of Illinois to Observe Day.

Springfield, May 8.—Planting of a young white birch in memory of mother, was suggested as the most fitting observance of Mother's Day by Governor Small in a proclamation issued here today. He requested that May 11 designated as Mother's Day by the legislature, be observed throughout the state that flags be displayed and that special programs be devoted to the day in schools, Sunday schools, churches and other public meetings. The proclamation follows:

"To the people of Illinois, Greetings: The sacred name of mother brings to us tender memories of loving care, self-sacrifice, and untiring devotion. Mother-love is immeasurable and unquenchable, and so it has been since the beginning of time. Few of us, in our busy lives, bestow a thought on what owes to mother, and yet, without her wise guidance, her watchful care, her tender sympathy in our troubles, and in our triumphs, we would be poor indeed. A true realization of what mother is and has always been in our lives, will make of us better men and women, better fathers and mothers, better citizens. No individual or nation can stray far from the path of right and justice that preserves and honors the ideals of motherhood."

"The Fifty-third General Assembly of Illinois, by joint resolution, authorized and requested the Chief Executive to issue, annually, a proclamation designating the second Sunday in May as Mother's Day, as an appreciation of love and reverence for the mothers and other patriotic women of the state; and

"Whereas, tree-planting ceremonies in honor of Mother's Day will be conducted this year on the White House grounds at Washington, and in many other places throughout the United States;

"I, Len Small, governor of Illinois, in compliance with the wishes of the General Assembly and in harmony with the evident disposition of our people, do hereby designate and appoint Sunday, the 11th day of May, A. D. 1924, to be observed as

"MOTHER'S DAY"

"I request the flag of our country be displayed universally on that day, and that appropriate exercises in honor of mother be held in churches, Sunday schools, and other public assemblies, and also in the homes. I suggest that wherever possible arrangements be made to plant, with suitable ceremonies, a tree in honor of mother, using for this purpose a young white birch, which, by reason of its personal characteristics, has been selected as the National tree to be planted

COULD NOT WALK BECAUSE OF PAIN

Bad Case of Woman's Illness Remedied by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

St. Louis, Mo.—"I had such a bad case of female trouble that I could not walk because of the pains from inflammation. My back was all done up. I could hardly bend, could not go up stairs because of weakness, and no one could possibly be in worse shape than I was. I have taken 12 bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I am a strong woman now and can work down any of my neighbors. They wonder how I can do so much work. I dare say that I have recommended your medicine to a thousand women. A little book was thrown at my door, and that is how I first learned of it."—Mrs. D. M. BEAUCHAMP, 1104 Morrison Avenue, St. Louis, Missouri.

Letters like this bring out the merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. They tell of the relief from such pains and ailments after taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

LETTER FROM JOHN ALDEN PRESCOTT TO SIDNEY CARTON

Was glad to get your telegram, old man, for it told me that you were really on the road to recovery. Both Leslie and I are very, very glad that you are going to spend some of the time of your convalescence in our city, and we wish most heartily that we had room in that little apartment of ours to put you up.

You did not state when you are coming, consequently I am writing to say that Leslie is called to New York this evening to welcome her parents home. You remember her younger sister, Alice? She is going to marry that guy that was so sweet on Leslie. I wish him joy when he marries, but if he was fond of Leslie I can't understand why he could transfer his affections to that ambiguous, self-centered, egotistical little mortal. Between you and me I bet she roped him in. She is sure to be one of those managing women, and I pity Whitney from the bottom of my heart.

Of course I haven't said anything of this to Leslie, for I am sure she admires her sister very much. I'll bet, however, in the future she will be happier if she doesn't see much of the Whitney's.

Leslie hopes that you will not come to us until after she has returned from New York. She won't be there but two or three days, however. In the meantime my mother is coming over. She will not stay at our house (she was quite horrified to find out that we hadn't a guest chamber waiting for somebody to occupy it). We, however, were able to find her a small apartment, one that Leslie's mother occupied when she was here.

I don't know how long mother will stay, but she is bringing her nurse and coming, consequently I am writing to say that Leslie is called to New York this evening to welcome her parents the arrangement is better than if she were cooped up in our apartment with Leslie, the baby as well as myself, whom you know am not always the easiest person to live with.

I wonder if I talked to you very much about my secretary, Mrs. Sally Atherton, when I was down there. Of course I know I mentioned her to you quite frequently but did I tell you anything about her peculiar sentimental biases. She came back from the funeral of her husband the day I returned, and settled down immediately to the routine of business. She wouldn't allow me to mention her husband's name to her—told me that he had been a stranger, almost, to her for a long time.

I want you to meet her, Syd. I think you will be fascinated with her. I have never had a man come into my office that could keep his eyes off her, and yet she is not a pretty woman, and pays very little attention to her clothes. Her hair is bobbed and straight, and she mostly dressed in tweed suits, and yet, with all her assumption of manliness, she is the most feminine thing I have ever known in my life. She stirs your senses before she speaks.

Hastily, JACK.

BAD FIRE NEAR BLOOMINGTON
Bloomington, Ill., May 7.—A $50,000 fire occurred at Carlick, near here this morning. The Bloomington fire department made a run to that place and helped in checking the conflagration. The origin of the fire has not been determined, but practically all of it is said to be covered by insurance.

The Farmers State Bank was a total loss. E. C. Miller's restaurant burned completely with the exception of a radio set which was saved from the flames. The M. G. Stutzman building which housed a creamery and the light and power office, was burned to ashes and J. K. Esche's store is in ruins.

The postoffice was burned down, but everything of value was saved and early today its activities were transferred to another location.

LONG SEARCH ENDS

Corning, N. Y.—Earl Davis, a victim of Amnesia, has found his mother and his full name here after a five-year search that took him throughout the country. His mind was affected by an injury received in Detroit nine years ago. Despite four years of hospital treatment, he was unable to establish his complete identity when he was dismissed.

Carbonic acid is a component of snow, which is therefore a splendid fertilizer.

KILL CUBAN REBEL

Havana, Cuba, May 7.—Killing of one rebel, capture of another and the surrender of Eusebio Leoni with 14 men in Santa Clara province, was officially announced today. Otherwise it was said that the situation in all provinces was quiet.

DON'T GET UP NIGHTS

John Lumpkins, Dayton, Ohio, says: "Come to 7 Carrie St., and I will show you 25 pieces of gravel that passed after taking Lithiated Buchu (Keller Formula). Had to get up 15 times at night for two years. Ailment Now." Lithiated Buchu cleanses the bladder like Epsom Salts do the bowels, thereby relieving irritation, driving out foreign matter and neutralizing excessive acids. These are the causes of unnatural action of the bladder at night. Lithiated Buchu (Keller Formula) is not a cheap medicine. The tablets cost 2 cents each. Sold at leading drug stores or Keller Laboratory, Mechanicsburg, Ohio.

Remember Mother

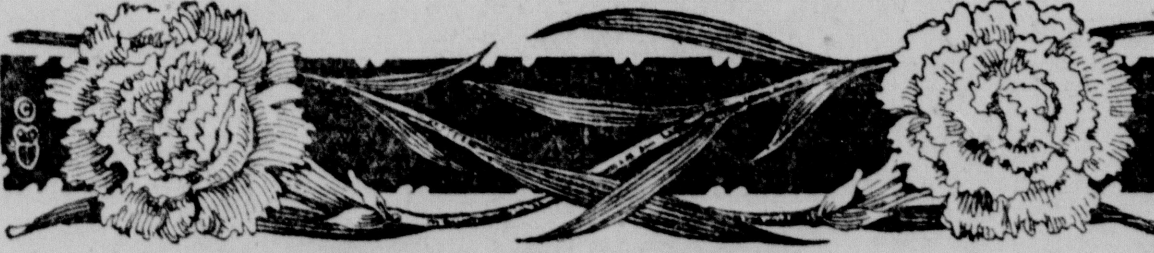

SEE her face beam with joy at your thoughtfulness. Make her great, big, loving heart throb with happiness—on this day set aside for her reverence.

Mothers don't ask for much in this world—and too often they get less. The older we get the more we realize this and how much we truly owe them. Mother nature is to get joy from giving—from self-sacrifice. They don't look for anything in return.

But oh, how happy it does make them to learn that they are thought of once in a while—to receive some token of love and affection from those to whom they have given their all.

The purity, the wholesomeness, the beauty of flowers is the nearest thing akin to mother love on this earth. They make the ideal remembrance for Mother's Day.

A few suggestions in cut flowers and potted blooms are given here. Many others to be seen at our store. We deliver anywhere in town.

History's most colorful period, the bold, brave days of Old France brought to life on the screen in a drama of beauty and action that will remain for years the most ambitious, the most sumptuous, the most thrilling of all picture creations.

Every Boy, every Girl, every Man, every Woman in Dixon should see it.
